LVA Congratulates Katy Delahanty, New Executive Director of the Portland Museum

By Grant Johnson

With gratitude for her years of tireless service to Louisville’s arts and cultural community as LVA’s Outreach Director, and with enthusiastic congratulations for her appointment as the Portland Museum’s new Executive Director, LVA bids Katy Delahanty a fond farewell and looks forward to working with her and the Portland Museum on future collaborations to enrich our neighborhood and city.

Katy’s time at LVA increased her already extensive network of connections with Louisville artists, arts organizations, and cultural leaders. That, along with her thorough understanding of public art programming, art education, and current issues in the worlds of art practice and exhibition make her uniquely qualified to lead the Portland Museum into an exciting new phase of its history.

LVA’s loss is the Portland Museum’s gain, and we wish Katy every success at her new post!

LVA Summer Camps Now Registering, Including Two in Portland

By Grant Johnson

LVA again offers unique and exciting Spring and Summer Art Camps for 2021. Info and registration are available at: <https://www.louisvillevisualart.org/camps-workshops>.

The Spring Break Camp - Spring Into Action! – runs at the Holy Trinity Clifton campus March 29 - April 2. Mornings are for artistic creativity and discovery; afternoons are for exploration, games, and fun outside. Kids from all parts of Louisville are encouraged to sign up.

Summer Camps offer additional locations, with some sites able to accommodate extended hours. As with Spring Break Camp, Summer Art Camps focus on art-making in the morning, with energetic activities in the afternoon. Camps occur at Holy Trinity Clifton Campus, Waterfront Park, Waterfront Botanical Gardens, and at LVA’s Lytle Street facility in Portland. The Botanical Gardens Camp will offer round-trip transportation each day for campers residing in western Louisville Neighborhoods.

Many students have followed a first experience of LVA’s exceptional art education curriculum in an Art Camp with continued success in our school-year programs, Children’s Fine Art Classes (grades 4-8), and the Academy of LVA (grades 9-12). Camps are a great way for students with interest in visual art to gain knowledge and confidence that may even lead to a career as an artist.

Summer Camps all meet for one week, Monday through Friday. Most follow a 9am-4pm schedule, but it is important to check the link above for specifics. The Camp season runs June 7 through August 6, 2021, and available spots are already filling up. Please reach out to Annette Cable with inquiries: annette@louisvillevisualart.org.

Warning - Dangerous Dogs

There are dangerous dogs roaming around 35th and Rudd. Two dogs, a tan pit bull and a white husky, recently killed 4 of 5 feral cats that were being fed by the Portland Cat Lady. At age 84, she still feeds over 30 cats at several locations twice a day. All the cats were fixed by the T-N-R program. The one surviving cat is still recouping at the veterinary office. The dogs have tasted blood, so please be very careful if you are out alone in the area. Take extra precautions, for the kids and the elderly. If you know the whereabouts of the dogs in question, please call Animal Control.

COVID-19 Vaccine Information

By: Family Health Centers

Vaccine shots to protect against COVID-19 infection are now available in Kentucky! You are probably wondering whether to get one and how to get one. See below:

WHY should I get a COVID-19 vaccine?

- The COVID-19 vaccines available today are almost 95% effective in preventing COVID-19.
- COVID-19 is deadly. The risks of serious illness from COVID-19, including hospitalization and death, greatly increase with age.
- COVID-19 vaccines are safe. More than 30 million Americans have already received their first dose of the vaccine.
- Vaccines are not used in the United States until extensive testing takes place. All testing results are reviewed carefully by the FDA before they allow vaccines to be used.
- The more people get vaccinated, the sooner we can all go back to work, school, church and our normal lives.
- If you have questions or concerns about getting the COVID-19 vaccine, talk to your primary care provider.

WHEN can I get a COVID-19 vaccine?

Kentucky is vaccinating people in phases as vaccine supplies increase. Currently people in Phase 1A and Phase 1B can get the vaccine. Phase 1C may be able to get the vaccine in April.

- Phase 1A: Healthcare workers and nursing home residents
- Phase 1B: First responders, K-12 Educators, childcare workers, and anyone 70 years or older
- Phase 1C: Anyone 60 years or older, people with certain chronic diseases, and certain essential workers.
- Phase 2: Anyone 40 or older
- Phase 3: Anyone 16 or older
- Phase 4: Children under the age of 16 (if the vaccine is approved for this age group).

WHERE can I get a COVID-19 vaccine?

- Right now, vaccines are available at multiple hospitals in Louisville. New vaccine locations are expected to open soon. Go to www.louisvilleky.gov/vaccine or call (502) 912-8598 for more information.
- You will likely need 2 doses, 3 to 4 weeks apart. During your appt. for your 1st dose, staff will help you schedule your 2nd dose at the same location.
- The vaccine will be free.

Once I am vaccinated, what will be different?

- Your risk of getting COVID-19 will be greatly reduced or eliminated. You will no longer be at risk of hospitalization or death due to COVID-19.
- You must still wear a mask and practice social distancing. Scientists are still researching whether you can spread COVID-19 to others even after getting the vaccine and even if you don't get sick. It will be months before everyone around you is vaccinated.

For more information: go to www.louisvilleky.gov/vaccine or call (502) 912-8598.

Lent at Good Shepherd

Lent began with the observance of Ash Wednesday on February 17, 2021. This year, due to the continuing pandemic, Fr. Deo Ssamba and Deacon Chris Herbert sprinkled ashes on the heads of the faithful rather than making a cross on the forehead.

sprinkled ashes on the heads of the faithful rather than making a cross on the forehead.

Good Shepherd will have Stations of the Cross every Friday at 6 PM in the church located at 3525 Rudd Avenue. We invite you to participate in this traditional Lenten observance.

Please wear a mask.

Our famous Fish Fry has been postponed for now due to the restrictions put in place by COVID-19. We look forward to returning to normal as soon as it is safe to do so.

Knifed in the Back 40

What I Did:

I perennially blow my back out tilling and hauling wheelbarrows of dirt for gardening in summer and then autumn's chopping and stacking wood for winter burning. I pined for a necessary unblowing-out of my back. So I saw an advert for free yoga at the Health Dept (pre pandemic). Oh boy, did that feel good --and hurt-- and helped out in many ways. So I'm now a devotee. Thanks to the health center for offering the classes both at the center and on zoom (for the pandemic). Yoga keeps me on track to ensure my back is limber and strong for working in dirt and around heavy wood. Now that I can say I've seen good results from my own experience, I was naturally inclined to observe my fellow folks... and when I looked around, I saw all the drooping and limping from the humans that venture out of doors any more these days. I have to tell you--

What I Learned:

Many of us Portlanders are 180-degrees from where we should be, so my reflections grant me this insight: An easy, huge secret in yoga (and ballet) is to push shoulder blades together in the middle of your back and try to put them in your back pocket (thus dropping your shoulders). It instantly fixes posture and creates new helpful muscle memory. And...to put it indelicately, Portland has a posture problem that this can fix. Maybe I'm naive, but this one posture correction might create a cascade of benefits. I'm not joking. Let's holler at each other when out of reach of a right hook: "Is your back pocket empty? It should be filled with your shoulder blades!" or shorthand meme: "Pocket blade!" Drooping shoulders lead to neck problems...and also has led to (in some clinical studies) the insertion of stems of long grasses drooping out of the mouth...and eyes fixed to the ground... and shuffling feet...appearance of bib overalls...and circling of flies about a smudgy and tattered straw hat. This "pocket-blade" remedy cures the need to feel like you must pronounce "oil" like "all"...which opens up a bunch of new doors. Who knew yoga would create this stir?

Just two words: pocket blade.

Where It Came From:

Yoga comes out of India so if my words cause you consternation, you could take it out on them--but wasn't India where we wanted to go when we ran aground on Amerigo's continent in 1492? ...and haven't we taken it out on the "Indians" enough already? (and did we not steal Indian land in the name of Boone and settlements he called boroughs?) Or maybe I'm getting slightly mixed up... In the end we not only got spices from India but yoga instructors too; double score! #Morriset_says_"Thank You India".

Philosophy of Life:

Did I not fail to inform you that all yoga is offered free by the city? I think the city knows what we are slowly learning: many of our needs can be met cheaply and broadly. Over-priced miracle cures--and cure-iosity drugs--are mostly distractions by their purveyors who design them for the rich to open their purses to. We have agency in and of ourselves; no need to blame or put ourselves on the sidelines and calling 'foul'. Prove me wrong. Truthfully, I am a fibertarian (internet slob) and besides the obvious need for access to the web, the obvious need for access to the web, there's a lot we can do by ourselves such as posture and keeping pain free as we age...and maintaining mental health by keeping off social media. Once healthy, all doors open. Like I like to say: little fixes are free if you try for it...but...systemic problems are expensive to instigate and more expensive to reverse.

You are not required to agree with me; I have a point of view--and we can debate it civilly anytime. #FixIt4Free

Warning Disclaimer... Oh gosh, I have to consider the possibility that you might throw your back out when doing what's good for you (#pocketblade)...so I am now changing my advice: I recommend avoiding doing anything that might get me in trouble. The Health Center and affiliates haven't been consulted about my article in any way, nor have I asked permission from them...and I doubt they'd give it, but I'm not asking for permission--and won't hesitate to ask for forgiveness if the future warrants that I need to do so to save me from Chapter 11. I have to be careful with what I say since I'm not stupid rich and routinely wild with my words--which would require my relying on lawyers to mop things up. (Which is a good gig when you can get it.)

Danger: Do not read any further. Too Late: Next month's article: Psoassic Park. #SystemicSlouchism
Having a backbone,
