Portland Museum receives a $500,000 grant to build AHOY (Adventure House of You), Louisville’s first Children’s Museum

Portland Museum has received a $500,000 gift from the James Graham Brown Foundation to support AHOY (Adventure House of You) - Louisville’s first brick-and-mortar Children’s Museum. The gift will enable Portland Museum to complete PHASE I of AHOY, which includes transforming a Victorian-era house adjacent to the Portland Museum into an experience where local heritage meets surrealism. This immersive Children’s Museum will include educational opportunities, such as maritime exhibits that playfully juxtapose fact and folklore against a backdrop of climbing ropes, trapdoors, projected imagery, and rooftop gardens. AHOY will be a play ecosystem to encourage generations of children to be adventurous, bold, freethinkers.

“This grant will enable us to move forward with construction and help encourage other donors to become part of building this experience inspired by and rooted in Louisville’s West End,” said AHOY Director Danny Seim. “We are deeply grateful to the James Graham Brown Foundation for this generous support and are excited to build this experience for all of Louisville.”

AHOY is inspired by the creativity and historical references of the St. Louis City Museum, the repurposed Victorian architecture of Oregon’s Gilbert House,

Hunting What?

Hello Portland, little Carmie with my two squirrels I got opening day of Squirrel Season. Grampa and me went down to the farm to hunt squirrels. Grampa saw one but by the time he got close, it was gone. I told him your not a spring chicken anymore, let me put the meat on the table! Only thing with that is Grampa can eat both of them, so I got to get a few more! Deer hunting came in September 3rd with a bow, and if I get one of those that will feed the whole family, if I can keep grampa out of the freezer.

LMPD 1st Division Officers of the Month

Officers Ambers

Officers Ringswald

Officers Seng

Officers Spencer

For September there are four officers of the month. They are recognized for their outstanding service and work mentoring newer officers - in particular - on the late watch platoon. Due to a large amount of turnover, more than half of the platoon had less than one year of experience.

The CO, Mayor Shannon Lauder, of the 1st Division developed a plan called the "Mentor Program" to have day shift officers volunteer for late watch and allow the younger officers to go to day watch. This allowed the newer officers to be surrounded by the more experienced officers on day watch.

Officers Ambers, Ringswald, Spencer and Seng volunteered to take on this challenge, later dubbed the "Mentor Program". They sacrificed sleep and time with their families because they genuinely wanted to help make the new officers better patrolmen. There are so many small things in this profession, both written and unwritten rules, that are best learned from other officers.

The sacrifices these officers made for the greater good of the 1st Division. Their selflessness is appreciated, by the division supervisors, the officers that were mentored and by the community that they serve and protect every day. Each of these mentors were chosen for their knowledge and skill but during this program's tenure, they showed leadership abilities well beyond their years of service. Their actions reflect great credit upon themselves, the 1st Division and LMPD.

Louisville Visual Art

Open Studio Louisville Offers Three Locations to Visit Working Artist Studios in Portland

By Grant Johnson

Louisville Visual Art (LVA) is excited to bring Open Studio Louisville (OSL) back to Portland - and the entire city of Louisville - this fall. On Saturday, October 15, and Saturday, October 22, artists across the metro will open their studios to the public, providing a behind-the-scenes view of working processes and opportunities to learn about their influences and inspirations. In Portland, there will be participating Open Studio Louisville artists at the University of Louisville Hite Art Institute MFA Studio & Galleries (1606 Rowan Street), at the fifteen TWELVE Creative Compound (1512 Portland Avenue), and at Falls Art Foundry (1715 Portland Avenue).

Open Studio Louisville is a fantastic - and FREE! - educational opportunity for all ages, and especially valuable for young people interested in art who may not have seen professional working artists' studios before. School age students of all grade levels will benefit from seeing what artists actually do and how they do it, in addition to being able to talk with artists and ask them questions.

Portland Anchor readers are encouraged to visit louisvillevisualart.org/open-studio-louisville to learn more about this annual event and LVA's larger mission and offerings. Readers may also call (502) 584-8166 to talk with an LVA staff member about participating in OSL or one of our other programs. Open Studio Louisville is just one of the ways we seek to serve Portland with programs that benefit entire families and welcome the whole community.

Fr. John Burke's Day of Giving in Portland

Fr John Burke celebrated his Golden Jubilee this year with a Mass at Good Shepherd Church followed by a reception in Lehmann Hall.. Fr. John asked well wishers to donate to Habitat for Humanity of Metro Louisville, to help repair homes in Portland. Through donor generosity recognizing Fr. John's contributions to the Archdiocese of Louisville and specifically to the Portland neighborhood, he raised $25,000!

On September 17th, Fr. Burke joined dozens of volunteers for Portland Love Your Neighborhood event. Teams worked on five houses and several crews cleaned up surrounding streets.

Fr. Burke thanks all his friends and family who helped make this important work possible. His Sister, Trisha Burke, who is a Impact Leader at Habitat for Humanity headed this effort and homes were picked to make repairs. Thanks you Fr John for your fifty years of service!

Good Shepherd Church Portland's own Rosemary McAdams received the Roncalli Award from the Archdiocese of Louisville at the annual Faith Formation Celebration dinner on September 19, 2022.

This award was named after Saint John XXIII (Cardinal Roncalli) who called for the Second Vatican Council in 1958. By naming this award after him, we recognize those catechists who have been ignited by the spirit of Vatican II to spread the faith through catechesis.

Congratulations, Rosemary, and thank you for all you do for our parish family!

and Santa Fe's artist-driven Meow Wolf. Museums are renowned for their positive externalities, and much like City Museum, AHOY aims to be ever evolving in its design and a regional destination. For nearly five decades, the Portland Museum has served as a repository and interpreter of Portland's rich history. It has been a source of pride for West End residents and an educational resource to the region.

"We realize change is necessary to continue to share Portland's history and our people in a way that reaches contemporary audiences. We have an amazing opportunity at this moment to physically expand the footprint of the Museum, not just to have more space, but to truly create something driven by children and inspirational to all," said Katy Delahanty, Director of the Portland Museum. "This funding will do more than build AHOY; it will help construct a cultural hub for our Portland neighborhood and beyond."

The James Graham Brown Foundation has been a long-time supporter of the Portland Museum, dating back to the 1980s as it sought to become an anchor institution in the Portland neighborhood. Today we are encouraged by their bold vision to become a dynamic cultural asset, not just for Portland, but for all of Louisville. That is why we chose to support this exciting endeavor.

The full AHOY campus capital campaign and endowment are underway and will continue through 2023.

About Portland Museum: Portland Museum is an educational resource that collects, preserves, exhibits, interprets, and enhances the culture and heritage of Portland, a neighborhood in Louisville, Kentucky, that was once a thriving independent town.

A limb has fallen from my Family Tree.

I keep hearing a voice that says,
"Grieve not for me."

Remember the best times, the laughter, the song. The good life
I lived while I was strong.

Continue my heritage,
I'm counting on you.

Keep smiling and surely the sun will shine through.

My mind is at ease, my soul is at rest. Remembering all how truly I was blessed.

I miss you dearly, so keep up your chin. Until the day comes and we're together once again.

Fall Recipes from around the neighborhood. . .

Broccoli, cheese and Potato Soup

1/4 cup butter
1 onion, finely diced
2 carrots, diced
1 T minced garlic
1/4 cup flour
4 c. vegetable broth
1 c. milk, 2% or whole
2 large Russet potatoes, diced
1 pound broccoli, florets chopped
2 cups sharp cheddar cheese, shredded sea salt, ground pepper

Dice the carrots and potatoes. Chop the broccoli florets from stem and chop to bite sized pieces. Melt butter in a soup pot, add carrots and onion. Stir and cook until onion is translucent. Add garlic. Add the flour, milk and broth. Stir well. Add potatoes. Stir and bring to a boil. Reduce to a simmer for 5 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Add broccoli. Simmer for about 10 minutes until potatoes are fork tender. Remove from heat, stir in shredded cheese. Serve with some cheese on top with some freshly ground pepper.

Pumpkin Oatmeal Cookies

1/2 cups old fashioned oats
2 1/3 cups flour
1 T. baking powder
1 tsp baking soda
2 tsp pumpkin spice
1 tsp salt
3/4 C butter (melted)
1/3 cup pumpkin puree
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 T. molasses
1 tsp vanilla extract
2 large eggs

Cinnamon Icing Ingredients

2 cups powdered sugar
1 tsp cinnamon
4 T. water
1 1/2 tsp vanilla

Preheat oven to 350°F and prepare two cookie sheets with parchment paper or non-stick silicone baking mats. Set aside. Stir together oats, flour, baking powder, baking soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, and salt in a medium mixing bowl and set aside. In a separate bowl, add the butter, pumpkin puree, sugar, molasses, and vanilla. Whisk to combine. Add eggs one by one, whisking as you go, until batter is smooth. Slowly begin to fold the dry ingredients into your bowl of wet ingredients, stirring until well combined. Your batter should be thick and easy to form into balls. If you have a medium cookie scoop, this makes it easy to portion out the dough. If rolling into balls by hand, you'll want to use about 1 1/2 Tablespoons of dough per cookie dough ball. Place the balls of dough onto your prepared cookie sheet. Gently press them down in the middle, just a tad. You don't need to flatten them. Bake for 10-12 minutes, rotating cookie sheets at the halfway mark. When the cookies are done they will start to turn golden brown. Remove from oven and allow to cool on the baking sheet for about five minutes, then transfer to a wire rack to finish cooling while you make the frosting.

Icing Directions

Whisk the powdered sugar, cinnamon, water and vanilla together in a small mixing bowl until you have a smooth glaze. Take each pumpkin oatmeal cookie and place face-down in the bowl of glaze, so that the top is coated. Flip right-side-up and place on the cooling rack again so the glaze can set. Repeat with each cookie. While frosting is still wet, sprinkle all of the cookies with cinnamon.

To make sure your cookies aren't mushy, I recommend blotting excess moisture from the canned pumpkin with a paper towel. If you like nuts, you could add chopped pecans or walnuts.

White Bean Chicken Chili

7 cups chicken broth
4 – 15.8 ounce cans of Bush's Beans great northern beans (cannellini or navy beans could be substituted)
1 t. parsley, cumin, oregano, paprika
1/4 tsp. ground red pepper (or ground cayenne pepper)
1/4 tsp. black pepper, salt
4 T. olive oil (divided)
1 1/4 pound chicken breast, cubed
1 cup onion, diced
4 cloves garlic, minced
1 T. jalapeno, chopped, optional

In a large stock pot bring chicken broth and beans to a boil. Add all seasonings (parsley, cumin, oregano, paprika, red pepper, black pepper, salt). Reduce heat to medium and let simmer. In a saute pan heat 2 tablespoons of olive oil over medium high heat. Add chicken and saute about 3-5 minutes then add chicken to the large pot. In saute pan heat the remaining 2 tablespoons of olive oil over medium heat. Add onion, garlic and jalapeno and saute until softened, about 5 minutes. Add to pan with the onion, garlic and jalapeno mixture. Saute for a few seconds then add all to pot.

Remembering John Owen

John Mark Owen, 62, passed away at his home on September 8, 2022. Our staff was dismayed to hear of the passing of John Owen, Louisville, KY. A lifelong advocate and committed friend to all rail fans, John worked to empower the voices of minority and rural communities through his advocacy. Known for his passion and spirit of camaraderie, John joined NARP as a teenager alongside his parents and spent many years on the council. Not only was he an advocate for passengers, John also had a passion for expanding trailways, bus service, and saving abandoned rail cars as well as small town railroad museums. He played a crucial role in supporting the Bluegrass Rail Museum and Nostalgia Station Toy Museum when they faced uncertain futures.

In the last few years, John volunteered as part of a safety and de-escalation team during the uprising in Louisville, assuring people had safe passage aboard TARC and pedestrian safety was prioritized during tumultuous events. He also ran his own fundraiser campaigns for Juneteenth and Louisville Pride, recruiting supporters and meeting folks where they are at. He also provided counsel to former RPA Kentucky Council Representative Ron Schneider and Current Representative Josh Inzer.

John also worked tirelessly to advocate for better representation for minority groups in Kentucky, providing them assistance in registering to vote, means of contact for local elected officials, and education on local transit issues. During our last Rail Nation DC event, John hosted an after hours hospitality suite, offering a full spread of burgoo, fried chicken, beer cheese, and bourbon. Many in attendance will remember this last event where John – ever colorful and ever boisterous – opened his doors to all with love, support, and his vast anecdotal history of the Association. We hope that we can serve his memory in our advocacy and treat others with the open-hearted compassion of this brave, passionate advocate.

The Sisters of Mercy of the Americas Kentucky historical highway marker dedication September 24, 2022 at Good Shepherd

The Sisters of Mercy of the Americas celebrated the 150th anniversary of their arrival in Louisville with a liturgy and reception in 2019 at Good Shepherd Church in Portland, a neighborhood in northwestern Louisville. Their legacy of service will be an official part of Kentucky history when the historical marker was dedicated at the same location on September 24, 2022.

Their history in the area began October 2, 1869, when, at the suggestion of Bishop William George McCloskey, Sister of Mercy from St. Louis arrived in the Portland area of Louisville to take over the operation of the U.S. Marine Hospital. The nursing skills of women religious had become legendary during the Civil War, so it was natural to seek a community of sisters to run the hospital. Under a five-year contract with the federal government, the sisters operated every aspect of the hospital, including direct care for those wounded in the Civil War and in the building of the Portland Canal, as well as lifetime boatmen who were sick or aged.

From the beginning, the Sisters also held Sunday school for children and for adults seeking instruction in the Catholic faith. In addition, on Saturdays, they offered sewing and needlework classes for girls. The sisters also started visitation in the area to comfort and assist the poor, sick and elderly. Within a year, they had begun to offer education to hospital patients and other adults in the area. Since hospitals didn't pay much in those days, the sisters bought a cow and put in a garden to feed themselves and reduce expenses.

October's the month
When the smallest breeze
Gives us a shower
Of autumn leaves.
Bonfires and pumkins,
Leaves sailing down -
October is red
And golden and brown.

October leaves are lovely
They rustle when I run.
Sometimes I make a heap
And jump in them for fun.

Autumn leaves float quietly down
And for a carpet on the ground.
But when those leaves
Are stepped upon,
Listen for the crackling sound.

Irish Shades and Banshees in Portland

Since the Queen of England just died, I've been thinking a lot about the Irish. I learned some interesting things on the web. For instance, the Irish came to Portland (and Louisville generally) in the mid 1800's in such huge numbers that they replaced the slaves in LVL and turned this town Catholic. I guess they'd rather work on the L&N Railroad in Louisville than die from the potato famine on the Green Isle. A stronghold of the Ancient Order of Hibernians existed way back then; I like their coat of arms avatar/insignia. Apparently, the Gaelic Athletic Association of Louisville is interested in bringing back some of the traditional Irish sports of hurling, camogie, Gaelic football, Gaelic handball and rounders (and Guinness shoulder rolls?). All 7 Portland parks await the emergence of such frivolity and gaiety.

Another thing I learned is that the first line of the Irish blessing ("Go n-éirí an bóthar leat") literally means, "May you succeed on the road." Here's the way we've always heard it: **May the road rise up to meet you. May the wind be always at your back. May the sun shine warm upon your face; the rains fall soft upon your fields and until we meet again, may God hold you in the palm of His hand.** For Portlanders, the only rising road is across the river in the Knobs of Indiana...and the true locomotion meant in the Irish blessing is biking, since bicycling is in all Emerald Isle DNA. The bike paths on both sides of the Ohio River are really nice, but it's a shame the only current way for bikers to get across is downtown on the 2nd street or Big Four bridges. Buses would fix that.

By channeling all the saints and sprites, I'm figuring that this is a foreshadowing of Metro giving Portland residents free bus passage to and from New Albany for any bikers with helmets. (Bikers get on/off at 22nd & Portland and get off/on at the New Albany Police Station)...as space on the bike racks allow. The Leprechauns are behind me on this, as well. Oh, speaking of Leprechauns, I found a phone app called Leprechauns that turns on the microphone and records conversations all while camouflaging the phone to look like a rock. When I put my phone in streets, parks, and underpasses, I got some striking sound bites that would make Grace O'Malley roll over in her grave: Woman (to man): (1) "Okay then leave me alone and let me go on without you." (2) "Stop pointing that thing at me or someone will get hurt." (3) "Don't you ever say that about me again to anyone, you lying manipulator." (4) "Just for once stop stealing my stuff." Pretty rough stuff, and only goes to show the plight of women cuts across all socio-economic cross-sections of society these days. I think Apple shut the app down for obvious reasons; too bad. Portland's Irish shades of history and forest mythological creatures are apparently still with us today.

Generally farcical, trenchant, and endearing,

Recipes from the Ladies of Baptist Tabernacle

Autumn is here and that means cooler weather is on it way. And, that means the palate will soon crave a nourishing bowl of soup. Here are a few choices to make you hungry with a few more recipes to make you want to put on a apron and make a delicious mess in the kitchen. Enjoy!

Potato Soup

16 oz. Frozen hash browns
1 cup celery, chopped
1 can chicken broth
2 cups milk
2 cups water
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 cup onions, chopped

Add hash browns, chicken broth, water, onions, and celery to medium saucepan, cook over low heat for about 45 minutes. Mix soup and milk together and add to potato mixture and cook about 15 more minutes. Salt and pepper to taste. If you really, really want to, you can toss a handful of shredded cheese on top of your bowl of soup.

Pitch In

1 lb. Hamburger
1 can tomato sauce
½ cup chopped onions
1 can dices tomatoes
½ cup chopped celery with basil, garlic, and oregano
1 can sliced carrots
1 cup water
1 can whole potatoes, sliced
1 can whole kernel corn

Brown hamburger, onions, and celery. Drain grease. Place in a dutch oven or large sauce pan. Add remaining ingredients. Add salt and pepper to taste. Bring to boil, reduce heat and let simmer 15 more minutes.

Remember: All soups taste better when served with cornbread. That goes for chili, too.

Did someone say Chili!

1 lb. Hamburger
1 can diced tomatoes
1 lb. Sausage
1 can tomato sauce
½ onion, chopped
1 can whole kernel corn, drained
1 can chili hot beans, drained
1 Tbs. Chili powder
1 can red kidney beans, drained
1 Tbs. Garlic powder

Brown hamburger and sausage, drain. Place in dutch oven or large sauce pan. Add remaining ingredients. If chili looks too thick add a little water. Cook on medium heat until you can't resist the temptation to fill your bowl. Add shredded cheddar cheese, if you like. I won't tell anybody.

I forgot the corn bread recipe!!

Buy a box of Jiffy Corn muffin mix and follow the directions. Buy two boxes, you will want to make more.

Apple Crisp

5-6 cups peeled, cored, and sliced apples
¾ cups quick rolled oats
¾ cups brown sugar
½ cup flour
¼ tsp cinnamon
1 stick of butter or margarine

Place apples in greased pan. Combine oats, sugar, flour and cinnamon. But in butter/marg. Sprinkle mixture over apples. Bake 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Serve warm with whipped topping or ice cream.

Sweet Potato Fritters

(Disclaimer: I have not tried this recipe, but next stop at the grocers I am picking up some sweet potatoes and getting busy.)

1 lb. Sweet potatoes, peeled and cut into ½ inch pieces
1 egg
1 cup flour
2 Tbs brown sugar
2/3 cup cornmeal
2 Tbs butter
2 tsp baking powder
salt to taste

Oven at 375 degrees. Cook sweet potatoes in enough boiling water to cover for 15 minutes. Drain and cool. Mash potatoes. Add egg, brown sugar and butter. Mix well. Incorporate flour, cornmeal, and baking powder. Mix until well blended. Chill for 30 minutes. The mixture will be less sticky. Form into patties using ¼ measuring cup. Place on a baking sheet that has been sprayed with baking oil. Bake for 20 minutes. For a little extra serve with Dipping Sauce below.

Dipping Sauce

1 six oz. Plain yogurt
Dash of garlic powder
1 Tbs Chives
Sprinkle of pepper
1 Tbsp. paprika

Combine ingredients. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Life can't get any better than a full stomach and good friends. Be kind to everyone and thank God for every blessing.

Do You Have Diabetes?

Mark your calendar for November 14th – World Diabetes Day! Diabetes is a health condition that is becoming more and more common. You probably know someone with Diabetes – or you might even have it yourself.

What is Diabetes?

Acids in your stomach break down the foods you eat into different nutrients. One of these nutrients is sugar, also called glucose. Glucose travels from your stomach into your bloodstream, which carries it to all the cells in your body that use glucose for energy to do their work – such as pumping your heart, blinking your eyelids, moving your arms and legs, and almost everything else your body does. Your pancreas (a small organ behind your stomach) produces a hormone called insulin. Insulin is very important because it helps move the glucose from the bloodstream into the cells that need it.

In diabetics, there is a problem with the insulin – either the body doesn't make enough of it or it is made but doesn't work well. Without insulin, the glucose the stomach is sending into the bloodstream can't be moved into the cells, so it builds up in the blood. When the level of glucose in the blood is too high, the body can't work properly. Diabetes can lead to blindness, heart disease, stroke, kidney failure, and amputations. About 210,000 people die from Diabetes every year.

Many complications of Diabetes can be prevented if your blood glucose level is controlled by eating right, exercising, and using medications. But sometimes changing your eating habits, increasing your physical activity, and learning how to use medications can be hard or confusing. The classes below can help you! Call today to sign up.
